Disclosure of Information: Criminal Records & Identity

To comply with our legal obligations and good practice, Path carries out specific checks on members of staff, as below.

1. Disclosure and Barring

All applicants for jobs at Path must make a declaration regarding previous criminal convictions, including when working with children and vulnerable adults any convictions considered as spent under the Rehabilitation of Offenders Act 1974, which will be retained on staff records.

New applicants for posts who do not have a 'Satisfactory' Disclosure and Barring Service (DBS) check, will only commence work on this contract following the approval of the Director and, in some cases, local authority.

All applicants and volunteers for work should note that undeclared criminal convictions, including when working with children and vulnerable adults, any convictions considered as spent under the Rehabilitation of Offenders Act 1974, which subsequently come to light, may result in dismissal.

A Disclosure will be required for every successful candidate as Path's work can involve children and/or vulnerable adults. Disclosure for all staff and all volunteers has to comply with the CRB (now DBS) Code of Practice and appropriate applications made to the Disclosure Service.

Where a Disclosure check is required we will request verification of identity (eg sight of the successful candidate's original birth certificate and marriage certificate, if applicable, and all documentation which shows a change of surname).

2. Entitlement to work

Given current Home Office regulations regarding legal working, checks have to be made on all new staff. As a minimum requirement the following should be produced:-

- ❑ at least one item of photographic evidence of identity e.g. current passport or a new style UK driving licence
- ❑ at least one item of address-related evidence e.g. utility bill, bank, credit card or mortgage statement containing the name and address of the successful candidate.

This is in accordance with the Asylum & Immigration Act 1996 (Prevention of Illegal Working), for which, prior to commencing employment, all new workers must submit documents which include their National Insurance Number or that state authorisation to work in the UK. These should be sent for checking, copying and return prior to employment beginning. Copies will be retained on the new employee's personal file in accordance with the act. Examples of appropriate documentation are:-

- A document issued by a previous employer, the Inland Revenue, the Benefits Agency, the Contributions Agency or the Employment Service which states the National Insurance number of the person named.
- A passport describing the holder as a British citizen or as having the right of abode in – or an entitlement to re-admission to – the UK.
- A certificate of registration or naturalisation as a British citizen.
- A birth certificate issued in the UK or in the Republic of Ireland.
- A passport or other travel document endorsed to show that the person named is exempt from immigration control, has indefinite leave to enter, or remain in the UK or has no time limit on his or her stay; or a letter issued by the Home Office confirming that the person named has such status.
- A letter issued by the Immigration and Nationality directorate of the Home Office indicating that the person named in the letter is a British citizen or has permission to take employment.
- A work permit or other approval to take employment issued by the Department for Education and Employment or, in Northern Ireland, by the Training and Employment Agency.

Where the certificate(s) reveals a different surname from the one currently used this name(s) must be included on the disclosure application check form.
